Oil/Gas Field Production Sharing Management

东方智慧 全球分享
Oriental wisdom , Global sharing

With the goal of output, based on reservoir evaluation and development potential analysis, Anton provides the general contract services along with risks of linking service income with oil and gas output for single well or blocks. The scope of services includes single well or blocks and blocks services with output evaluation.

Service Performance:

- Have a professional reservoir analysis team to objectively assess and identify potential for development.
- Specialized technologies for increasing production of various types of oil and gas reservoirs: such as fracturing sectional optimization technology for low-permeability and tight reservoirs, nano-material technology; thermal recovery and microbial technology for increasing oil production; and water-control technology for high-water-bearing reservoirs.
- Own service teams and supporting equipment for workover, fracturing, acidification, production, etc.
- Offer services for CBM, tight reservoirs in China and oil fields development in Pakistan and Albania.
